Our Equipment

No Manufacturing and Retailing Clothing Concern in the Country has Facilities superior to ours.

Long established; experienced in making Fine Clothing for widely separated centres of population; with a staff of half a dozen of the most skillful designers in America, and a factory of our own that is perfectly appointed in every detail of intelligent system, modern mechanical appliances and hygienic surroundings; and with an established trade that is our pride and the envy of competitors—all these are considerations to affect the man who wants the best obtainable in wearing apparel.

Our Fall styles in Men's and Boys' Suits and Overcoats are particularly attractive this season.

DETENTION HOME FOR WOMEN.

Second Floor of Jefferson Market May Be Remodeled for This Purpose.

Commissioner of Corrections Patrick A. Whitney, Nicholas Peasey of the controller's office, Miss Alice Smith, a probation officer, Warren P. A. Miller of the district attorney, and Charles James, supervising engineer of the Department of Corrections, visited the Jefferson Market court building yesterday in a search for a suitable room to be used as a dormitory place for the women prisoners on the night shift.

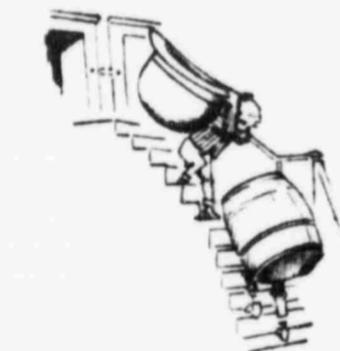

WRITER WHO TRIED TO DIE.

Euchs Was a Clerk, a Poet and Had Been Jilted in Love.

Joseph Euchs, a young clerk of 189 McKittrick street, Williamsburg, attempted to end his life by gas in his home early yesterday morning. He had an ambition to become a poet and wrote many versified stories, but could find no market for them.

Recently it was said he became infatuated with a girl, and when he heard Wednesday that she had gone out with another young man, he sought her and after seeing her asked her to marry him. When she refused, he became depressed and went home. Several weeks later he wrote the words Wednesday night were dedicated to the girl.

Euchs may recover.

We're strong on carrying out our Derby policy!

To have ample stock in many shapes—"barrels of 'em."

To have the best quality possible, at each price.

First and foremost, the Derbies which have made our own name famous as hatters these many years past—they alone would satisfy most hatters.

But we also have Derbies made especially for us by famous makers.

"Stetson Special" Derbies, which we alone have in New York.

"Knapp-Belt Preferred" Derbies, which we alone have in New York.

"Victor Jay" London Derbies, which we alone have in New York.

Each representing a special effort of its maker.

Soft hats, too—new shapes.

Fall overcoats, Fall suits, Fall shoes and Fall furnishings for men and boys.

POSTAL CLERK ARRESTED.

Klein's Theft from the Mail Alleged to Have Continued All Summer.

Marshal Henkel arrested yesterday Henry J. Klein, a money order clerk employed at the U. S. General Post Office, on the charge of embezzling a money order for $42.20 payable to Joel Bodow. The specific offence is alleged to have been committed last May, and according to Inspector Robert S. Griggs the thefts continued up to last Monday, when Klein was surrendered.

When arraigned before United States Commissioner Gleichert the accused man waived examination and was held in $2,500 bail to await the action of the Federal Grand Jury. Klein lives at 390 Third avenue.

Recently it was said he became infatuated with a girl, and when he heard Wednesday that she had gone out with another young man, he sought her and after seeing her asked her to marry him. When she refused, he became depressed and went home. Several weeks later he wrote the words Wednesday night were dedicated to the girl.

Euchs may recover.
